

PRE-SEMESTER INTENSIVE LANGUAGE COURSE Levels A1- B2, Summer Semester 2016

Universität Regensburg offers a pre-semester intensive language course for exchange students with basic German language skills. The course is available only to students from partner institutions taking part in an official university exchange program.

This course should be attended by all students with language knowledge below level B2. Students with a language performance of B2 and above should participate in the regular (German-taught) orientation program offered in April.

a) Costs:

The current participation fees are:                      ERASMUS exchange students: EUR 270,- other exchange students: EUR 400,-

The fee covers tuition for the language course as well as orientation and extra-curricular activities that are part of the programme. Housing, books and other living expenses are not covered by the fee.

b) Schedule:

Students are expected to arrive in Regensburg on March 1st and 2nd, 2016. The instruction will run from March 3rd until April 5th, 2016.

c) Course Details and Prerequisites:

The course is open to all exchange students from partner universities, coming for a semester or a full year program to UR.

The course will be offered on at least six levels which will be determined by a placement test at the beginning of the course. Students will be assigned to the different levels according to this test.

Instruction is ca. 120 hours overall (approx. 6 hours per day). Participants can receive 12 ECTS credits.

Please note:

Students who plan on attending the regular (German-taught) classes in their subject area (e.g. Law courses, History courses etc.) during the semester and have only A1/2 level when arriving:

Although the language training will be very intensive, these students will still lack the necessary fluency to follow regular (German-taught) courses in their main field of study during the semester. At the end of this basic language course, students will be given a final examination. Having passed this test, students are advised to enrol in further German language courses during the semester (no extra costs). Students can receive certificates and ECTS credits for participating in these courses.

d) Application and method of payment:

Students interested in following the pre-semester intensive language training, should send back the completed registration form before November 15, 2015.

Students will then receive an application confirmation and invoice with detailed information on money transfer approximately at the beginning of January 2015.
